Dear Paul,

Here is our check for the $40.47 I owe you for the xeroxing and postage. Sorry I couldn't send it earlier, once I learned how much it came to. Many thanks. Hope the delay has not been a major inconvenience.

All has been quiet. No news. No progress on suits, either, for Bud has been sitting on them apparently deeming other things more important, like the computer project, where such great works as Popkin's and Flammonde's appear to be of high priority. I was to have gone there today but learned last night that, for the third time, the not difficult revising of the suit on the clothing and pictures is still not done, as it was supposed to have been on each of the two trips I made for this purpose. Clothing here JFK, as pictures are of clothing.

I'm now scheduled to go there Monday a.m. I told his new assistant, Jim Lesar, that I will then take everything back and proceed, that if they want to do anything, have any changes made, additions or eliminations, to have them by then. I have more delays than I can brook from the government.

By now you should have the copy of the Ferrie suit. I'd appreciate suggestions as soon as possible, for I think it should be the second one, in sequence, aside from spectro, which Bud is handling (hasn't shown me his revision of my draft of complaint).

The heat here is oppressive this week, with an inversion. Just going out to mail something last night was uncomfortable. I don't often look forward to a storm, but this time I do.

Again, thanks.

Sincerely,

Let me kno if Bud overlooks his part.
I've reminded him and given him your new address.
